

If We Only Knew Then...

A Chance To Rewrite Our Future History

How many times have we heard someone else, or even found ourselves, saying, “if we only knew then what we know now”? How many times have we heard the terms “20-20-hindsight” or “Monday morning quarterbacking”? But would we really do things differently now if we knew how things might turn out later, especially if we knew that, by not acting on what we now know, that “later”, that future, was going to turn out to be extraordinarily painful and unpleasant? You would think so, especially when you reflect on perhaps that most plaintiff, personal pleading, “Why didn’t somebody tell me?”

Keeping those mental tongue twisters in mind, and to find out if “somebody” actually has told us, let’s take a few moments to consider the equally complex matter of the Billy Meier UFO contacts from Switzerland. More and more people, world wide, are now becoming aware of the Meier case and, as they do, many obvious questions and challenges arise, such as, “what if it’s a hoax?” Now, even though I have already published an answer, in the form of abundant proof derived from 25 years of research, concluding that the case is absolutely authentic (www.theyfly.com), this question, unlike our initial ones, deserves a direct answer.

I’d Be First In Line

So, if the case is ever proved to be a hoax I will be the first one in line asking how he did it. I will want Meier, or the person who has conclusively proved the hoax, to tell me the details and to show me how this one-armed man accomplished the longest-running, most impenetrable deception imaginable, one that’s lasted more than 62 years (I am unaware of anything that can, in the same context, even be called a UFO contact case). I will be fascinated to learn how, in 1964, he managed to take clear, daytime photos of up to eight UFOs hovering over an ashram in India, had his story covered in a newspaper there and how an impeccably credible witness (a retired UN diplomat, no less) came forward, some 35 years later, to vouch for his story, his character, the UFOs and even the extraterrestrial woman that the diplomat personally observed with Meier.

I'd also like to know how over 100 witnesses (some of whom also photographed the UFOs) have likewise been completely fooled into believing they saw something they didn't, how 15 people (including Meier) have all passed lie detector tests and how some 17 people (including an undercover policeman), who witnessed the recording of the UFO sounds, were either all fooled or complicit in the fraud. I'd really like to know all that.

It would be absolutely fascinating to learn the secret behind how, after Meier lost his left arm in 1965, the quantity, quality and variety of his physical evidence exponentially increased. I'd salivate over seeing the original, meticulously crafted, various different metallic models of UFOs that he (or someone else) must have crafted for use in all his photos, films and video. Then I'd want to see the elaborate sound equipment (also never found or detected in years of investigation) that he used to generate the sounds of the UFO, which, like the other physical evidence, have remained irreproducible for decades. Of course I'd give anything to know how Meier made the metal alloy samples that multi-patent holding IBM chemist Marcel Vogel thoroughly examined and confidently concluded were completely beyond anything known to him and not made on this earth.

Show Me The Money

Naturally, since Meier only has one arm, I'd expect that the person or persons who assisted him would come forward because they could really clean up by selling their stories and then going to work for major special effects companies in Hollywood. (Gee, I wonder why that hasn't already happened long ago?)

Once we had all the physical evidence explained out of the way, I'd want Meier to let me in on the tricks he used to fake all the prophetically accurate information (covering a wide range of scientific and world event-related areas), years, even decades, before "official" discovery or occurrence. I know that I could make a fortune selling stock tips and such if I had the system, or equipment, Meier used for his remarkably accurate prognostications.

Yes indeed, I'd be at the head of the line wanting to see how he did it all but, based on the claims that Meier's hoaxed everything for "the money", I don't understand why he hasn't already cashed in, sold his own story, gone to work in Hollywood, etc. I guess the $1,000,000 that Universal Studios offered him (as part of a movie deal) to duplicate his own photos and films, with their special effects department at his disposal back in the 1980s (when $1,000,000 was really worth something) wasn't enough, he must have been holding out for more, right? Oh, you didn't know that not only Universal but also MGM and Coppola made offers for his life story that he declined because they were going to "commercialize it", i.e. crap it up with "exciting" stuff to make it more "interesting" and marketable?

Of course, still assuming some sort of inexplicable hoax, if money wasn't his motive, I can't wait to find out what was. Fame certainly wasn't, people have tried to kill him 19 (documented) times. Has any other "hoaxer" ever been subjected to that? The first bullet that misses would be the big incentive for a career change for most people. Now some people say that he's in it to form a cult. Really? A man can presumably produce stunning, still irreproducible, UFO photos, films, video and other physical evidence and, instead of getting fabulously wealthy off of it (isn't that the meaning of life, at least in America), he wants to gather together a group of knuckle-headed kool-aid drinkers? To do what with, exactly? Give him far less money (and way more trouble) than he can get with his nifty little, alleged, "special effects"?

Exit The Clowns

And the hoax theory isn't helped by the humiliatingly inept performance of the geniuses at CFI-West, the international professional skeptics' organization, who, in February 2001, claimed Meier's photos and films were "easily duplicated hoaxes" and then took over three years to prove ... that they couldn't duplicate them with any current technology available to them! To make sure that no one remained unaware of the depth of their ineptitude, they then actually went on international radio and publicly refused* to have their little photos of models tested, slowly sinking their credibility into a much deserved, irretrievable oblivion. Add to that sorry mix skeptic James Randi's subsequent public retraction of his claim that the case was a hoax and, well, so long skeptics.

While I'm asking questions, why has such a huge part of the opposition to the Meier case come from members of the so-called "UFO community", who were fast and furious in denouncing Meier's photos because they were "too good to be true"? (Talk about a "no-win" situation!) And does anyone really think that continuing to beat the drum for the Roswell case, real as it may have been, will ever amount to anything but a run around the circle, much to the delight of the powers that be? Could anything be more futile than trying to make the case (without any remaining evidence) and at the same time more ridiculous than needing the government's admission/approval?

Yes, I'd want to know the answers to all those questions.

Measuring the Truth

Now, let's keep in mind that, to the vast majority of people, the whole subject of UFOs (and anyone and anything associated with them) is still considered to be very fringe and not relevant to their lives or understanding. While awareness is growing, despite an official or unofficial cover-up and marginalization of the topic, you certainly don't find UFOs being regarded as worthy of serious discussion across the broad spectrum of the media. But the fact that something is not recognized as being credible by the media, or the masses, is certainly no measure of its truthfulness or worth. History is full of long neglected, even worse, long persecuted people of quality, vision and greatness, as well as misplaced praise and reverence for the most mediocre, and patently wrong, people and ideas. Do we really need to provide examples of that when surely a television is at near at hand?

So, the fact that the Meier case is less about UFOs and extraterrestrials than it is about us and (as I intend to show) our future survival, is not yet appreciated or understood by most people, unfortunately including many who consider themselves “experts” in the field of UFOs. Hopefully, that is about to change.

The Prophetic Information

With our mental tongue twisters somewhere still in mind, since they relate to the idea of advanced knowledge of the future, we might as well draw a couple of distinctions regarding prophecies and predictions. It should be made clear that, according to the Plejaren, prophecies refer to events that are likely to occur unless people take full self-responsibility for their lives and, in so doing, change things towards the positive. Predictions, on the other hand, refer to events that cannot be prevented, such as cosmic events and prophecies that have progressed too far to any longer be changed. Both prophecies and predictions are made based on a clear understanding of the laws of cause and effect.

Now, the compelling information that I referred to earlier comes from specific prophecies and predictions presented to Meier over the past 50 years, and published by him years, and even decades, in advance of “official” discovery or occurrence. But before I focus on two main documents, Contact 251 (February 3, 1995) and the Henoah Prophecies (from Contact 215, February 28, 1987), which contain the more ominous information, I draw your attention to the following excerpt regarding the moons of Saturn, taken from Contact #150 dated October 10, 1981, which confirms advance information from Meier later proved to be accurate. Since the numbers of moons given don't appear to agree at first with the latest discovery (Saturn having 33 moons), please carefully read the distinction explained by, and to, Meier, some 23 years ago, regarding the objects that are considered to be actual moons and those that are not. Also note that, at the time of the contact, Meier was himself unaware that scientists had discovered a few more moons than he thought they knew about:

“Billy:

That is clear to me, but while we are talking about heavenly bodies, I would have a question regarding Saturn. As you know, the American space probe ‘Voyager’ is traveling past Saturn and sends photos to Earth. With that, the scientists will again be astonished, as already with Jupiter, because without a doubt, they will have to see on the photos that this not fully matured pygmy-sun is circled by more moons than has been assumed up to now. As far as I know, up to today it is maintained that Saturn would have only 10 or 12 moons, although truthfully there are 29 of them, if I do not count the adonids, I would be interested to know if all these moons will be discovered by probes and by the transmitted photos.

Quetzal:

This will be so - and some more.

As you were already able to notice on your big journey, at the very place, 29 moons circle around Saturn, which actually have to be considered as such.

With approximately 15 years, these should be discovered in their total number by probes. They will probably not be that many and more, which can be discovered up to this number, because since your journey to Saturn, earthly scientists have discovered several additional moons, but which you probably missed in the course of the last few years. After the discovery of the moons around Jupiter, the scientists are counting on finding several undiscovered moons also around Saturn, nevertheless, there will still be a surprise for them.

Billy:

You think about the adonids?

Quetzal:

That is correct.

These miniature planets, called adonids, as you say correctly, are so small, that from the Earth they can not be noticed and seen, at least not for the time being, because the necessary instruments to do so do not exist yet.

A great portion of these miniature planets will certainly be registered by various probes, which will cause some confusion among the scientists.

Billy:

I can easily envision that, because it is a substantial number, which circles Saturn - besides the few small wandering adonids, which only pass by the planet from time to time, I can fully understand that they are not visible from the Earth, because on the average they prove to have a diameter of only approximately 10 to 15 kilometer, if I remember correctly and what Ptaah and Semjase explained to me during the year 1975.

Quetzal:

That is correct, but it also should be known to you where these adonids came from and how they got to Saturn.

Billy:

Naturally, at that time, Semjase said that the miniature moons would be larger pieces from the exploded planet, Malona, the rotational course of which was between Mars and Jupiter, before it was destroyed and torn to thousands of pieces by an explosion, caused by unreasonable human beings living there. While the greatest portion of the destroyed planet circles the sun as Asteroid Belt between Mars and Jupiter, a few small groups of adonids have separated themselves and, due to the expansion forces of the planet's explosion, were thrust into space, while a larger group of those came into the gravitational field of Saturn which, since then holds them as miniature moons, which means also, that these are not actual moons of the incomplete sun-planet, but are only immigrated foreign bodies of adonid-size, while the actual number of Saturn moons only totals 29.

The above is just one of literally dozens of examples of specific, detailed scientific and/or world event-related information provided to, and published by, Meier. You can find a lot more at www.theyfly.com (See: Proof Beyond A Reasonable Doubt)

Now That We Have Your Attention

Now, here are several specific items from Contact 251, pertaining to these times, that Meier himself foretold in 1995. I first downloaded them from the internet in 1998 and, to put the icing on the cake as far as advance knowledge goes, they appear on pages 347–348 of And Yet They Fly! published in September 2001, still well before the events occurred:

1. The strike or attack by the US and its president (Iraq). Meier even used the word “stun” when he said the strike would “...stun the entire world...” “Stun” is a synonym for the term “shock” used by the US as in “shock and awe”.
2. Meier correctly predicted the following upsurge in unrest and violence from Islamic fundamentalists.
3. Meier foretold the spread of AIDS, which has indeed become very widespread.
4. Mad Cow Disease has since spread to other animals and humans as Meier also predicted.
5. Meier said that a new disease and epidemic would then appear and SARS did just that.
6. His warning regarding a renewed threat of chemical warfare is more in the news than ever.
7. Meier specifically warned of the possibility of an accident, one that he said could be avoided, however, at the nuclear power plant near Lyon, France. The emergency scenario, and the timely shut down of that exact plant, occurred on August 12, 2003.

Consider the astronomically high odds against any kind of coincidences or lucky guesses by Meier in specifying all of the following eight years in advance:

1. The exact country and leader (out of hundreds) that would launch a stunning attack and a synonym for the term actually used by that country’s leader (impossible to calculate).
2. The exact religious group (out of thousands) that would respond with their own attacks.
3. The exact disease (out of thousands) that would spread widely among humans.
4. The exact animal disease (out of thousands) that would spread to other animals and humans.
5. The sudden appearance of a new disease and epidemic.
6. The exact kind of weapons and warfare that would cause renewed threats.
7. The exact location (out of 436) and type of facility (out of several) that would have a near-accident.

While critics may say that “anyone” could have foreseen any of these, such as the spread of AIDS or the emergence of a new epidemic, I am unaware of anyone who has indeed predicted and presented them all like this. And, shortly after the above, in the same document, and also in the book, Meier specifies these very ominous warning signs of a third world war:

“A new hoarding of weapon stockpiles will follow at a time when the worldwide production of weaponry is accelerated once again. This will signal the first threat of a looming third world war, as foretold by a prophecy, unless terrestrial Man strives to avert this danger through reasoning and appropriate thoughts and actions. Should Man fail to act against the fulfillment of this prophecy, a new and extremely destructive weapon will be built that will produce disastrous consequences in the next world war. One important factor in this scenario is the criminal neglect to monitor the Earth from space.

New weapons will once again create quite a stir, and so will the death of 4 heads of state who will die within 7 days from each other. These then are the last danger signs, which foretell that within merely 2 years of these events the long-feared world war will indeed erupt, unless terrestrials finally gain mastery over their reasoning to stop all these ills. Should this not be done, mankind will fail in its attempt to protest and boycott the new deadly weapons, because by this time the armories of many nations will be full to their capacity. Passing laws to prohibit the use of these weapons will be ineffective at this late stage. World War III cannot be averted if Man fails to finally become reasonable! The war will begin with conventional weaponry and escalate to nuclear, chemical and biological warfare. The world war will begin in November of a specific year, after 5 years of intensive effort are spent reaching this goal, which is preceded by 4 years of unspecified preparations. Should war actually break out, it will last for 3 years and 11 months and will therefore end in October of the fourth year.

By this time, Earth's northern hemisphere will be largely destroyed by nuclear fires and radioactive radiation that will annihilate the entire animal and plant world unless Man sees to it that the prophecy proves itself to be just a prophecy without fulfilling itself. Should this not be the case, the world will face some additional 11 bitter years of poverty, misery, starvation and many other ills. The nuclear radiation will cause the crippling and mutation of the children born at that time, and multitudes who survive the war will be contaminated and burned by radiation. Chemical warfare will cause horrifying and atrocious skin diseases, and biological warfare will produce festering sores and many other ills, not to mention vicious human freaks, etc. Prior to these events unfolding, however --- always with the assumption that the prophecy fulfills itself through Man's own fault --- scientists will discover the manipulated gene from ancient times in the DNA chain responsible for the rapid aging in human beings.”

The Henoah Prophecies

In Contact 215, in 1987, Meier was given an updated version of the Henoah Prophecies, the first version being given to him in 1981. I am including some excerpts that especially pertain to the U.S. although the complete document includes much information about numerous other countries:

“...The USA will set out against the Eastern countries ahead of all other financial states and simultaneously she will have to defend herself against the Eastern intruders. In all, America will play the most decisive role, when in the guise to strive for peace and to fight against terrorism she invades many countries of the Earth, bombs and destroys everything and brings thousand-fold deaths to the populations. The military politics of the USA will likewise know no limits, as neither will their economic and other political institutions which will be focused on building and operating a world police force, as it is the case already for a long time. But that will not be enough, and, in the guise of a so-called peaceful globalization, American politics will aspire to gain absolute control of the world concerning supremacy in economy.

And this will point towards the possibility that a Third World War could develop from it, if human beings as a whole will not finally reflect upon reason, become reasonable and undertake the necessary steps against the insane machinations of their governments and military powers as well as their secret services, and call a halt to the power of the irresponsible who have forsaken their responsibility in all areas.

If this does not happen, many small and great nations will lose their independence and their cultural identity and will be beaten down, because the USA will gain predominance over them and with evil force bring them down under her rule. At first, many countries will howl with the wolves of the US, partially due to fear of American aggressions and sanctions, as will be the case with many, many irresponsible [ones] in Switzerland and Germany but also of other countries. In part, others will join in because they will be forced somehow to do so or will be misled by irresponsible promoters of American propaganda.

Finally, many Asian, African and European states will rise up against the American hegemony, once they recognize that the United States of America is only taking advantage of them for purposes of war, conquest and exploitation. In this way, many countries will become puppet states of America before reason and realization will emerge in the responsible ones of governments and in many of the population, resulting in a turning away from the USA...”

“...Far in the West, it will be different; the United States of America will be a country of total destruction. The cause for this will be manifold. With her global conflicts which are continuously instigated by her and which will continue far into the future, America is creating enormous hatred against her, worldwide, in many countries. As a result, America will experience enormous catastrophes, which will reach proportions barely imaginable to people of Earth. The destruction of the WTC, i.e., the World Trade Center, by terrorists will only be the beginning...”

“...Not only will America, but also all other Western industrial countries which still live at the beginning of the new millennium in the delusion that they could dominate and rule over underdeveloped nations, i.e., Third World countries, will not only soon lose influence over these but must defend themselves against them. According to the prophecies of Henoch, the truth about industrialized countries is that they only seem to appear to be true civilizations, but in fact they are not; because more and more, at the end of the 20th century and at the beginning of the third millennium, they will disregard all true love, true freedom and true wisdom as well as true peace along with all values of humaneness and all values of men's and women's true being.

But not even all the terrible happenings will hinder the USA in continuing to proceed with her actions against all countries. Even when the North American continent will be stricken by the most terrible catastrophe which has ever been recorded, evil military powers will wreak havoc with computerized and nuclear, biological and chemical weapons, whereby it will also happen that computerized weapons become independent and cannot be controlled any longer by human beings. Overall, this is the most important part of Henoch's prophecies.”

The Truth Is Harsh

Considering the unparalleled track record of accuracy of the Plejaren, unlike prophets such as Nostradamus and other mystical and symbolic sources that are subject to much conjecture and interpretation, the clear and unambiguous nature of their warnings do not sit well with many people who are discomfited by their ominous tone. The Plejaren and Meier have repeatedly stated that the truth is harsh and that it's pointless, let alone deeply dishonest, to speak comforting, flowery words when the truth demands otherwise. This kind of lying, whether to oneself, or to others, always not only delays the inevitable consequences but actually compounds and makes them worse. Lying is, therefore, considered by them to be illogical and we are considered to be almost inexplicably illogical due to the depth and extent of our lying.

One form of this kind of lying that is prevalent in some “New Age” (and UFO) circles is the preponderance of so-called channeled messages from “space brothers”, “ascended masters”, “angels”, etc. that are replete with fluffy, feel-good notions of “ascension”, “moving into the fourth dimension”, “harvesting” scenarios and other thoroughly unfounded, escapist notions that are (often unbeknownst to their proponents) quite religious in origin. And, while not actually lying, many other people who are interested in UFOs have, for the longest time, mainly focused on the apparent technological advancement (or the perhaps vastly overblown abduction scenario) of these unknown objects and, in so doing, stagnated as far as the greater purpose of the visitations is concerned.

One certainly need know nothing at all about the Meier case, or any other sources of prophetic information, in order to understand exactly how dire our circumstances are. All that is needed is common sense and the ability to contemplate and understand the laws of cause and effect. To assist us in waking up, and to augment our rather limited comprehension of the magnitude of the situation that we are facing, the Plejaren have spent some 50 years providing a base of credibility, through prophetically accurate information, so that reasonable people would at least look at and seriously consider the warnings regarding these times and, hopefully, help wake up others.

Unambiguous Warning

At the heart of the message for the U.S., in case it isn't clear from what is posted above, is a direct warning that U.S. military policies must be changed. Specifically, withdrawal not only from Iraq but all countries where U.S. troops are based around the world. Please note that this is simply what's stated in the material (along with further details and suggestions) and all the "reasons" our "leaders" may give as to why this would be "impossible" are not the Plejaren's concern. It appears that, from their point of view, we either figure out how to do it, and prioritize doing so, or reap the full consequences of the accumulated causal actions that have led us to this point.

They have also specifically named Bush, Blair, Arafat, Sharon, Hussein and others as those who must be removed from power by the citizens of their respective countries, and be replaced with competent, dedicated persons who truly have the welfare of their people in mind, if we are to have a real chance of preventing a third world war, which would result in the loss of two-thirds of the earth's population (as well as an uninhabitable northern hemisphere). There is no endorsement of any candidates whatsoever and the Plejaren have made it clear that they see our political process as a pathetic farce, which both creates and perpetuates the problems it pretends to be able to solve.

So, let's consider our original, as well as some additional, questions. Has someone told us, and is what we do know now, enough? Is it sufficient - for those of us who have the eyes to see, the ears to hear and the minds to reason - to activate our will to act? Are we willing and able to rewrite (for the better) our so far prophesied, very dismal "future history"? Are there other people out there who, like you and me, want to prove the prophecies wrong? Are there others who understand that the very reason we've been given this foreboding information is not to immobilize us with fear but to remind us that we, and we alone, are the ones who can, and must, determine our own destiny and, thereby, assure our future survival?

And now, after 62 years, perhaps the real, true meaning of the Meier contacts, and the personal sacrifice and contribution to humanity made by this one man, can be understood, appreciated and acted upon by those to whom the gift was given.

*March 7 – 8, Coast to Coast radio show with Art Bell. Mr. Vaughn Rees, of CFI-West, refuses Art's request to submit their photos to the same testing that revealed that Meier's were authentic.
